

Fairtrade Smoothie Bike

Some third year students at West Calder High School in the German department have been working with Fairtrade on the 10th of March 2016 to make smoothies from mostly Fairtrade ingredients. The students have been pedalling on a bike (just outside the Home Economics department) which then powers a blender which has healthy Fairtrade ingredients to make a Fairtrade smoothie. The students are going to be selling these smoothies for fifty pence each at lunch time.

They are doing this for a few different reasons. In German they are currently doing a healthy eating topic which also ties in with health and wellbeing. They also want to raise awareness of Fairtrade around the high school.

Fairtrade is an organization which sells products such as chocolate and bananas but makes sure that the farmers and workers get a fair pay. Fairtrade also helps children in more developing countries go to school.
